Every Day

Since 1961 Sharkline has been making above ground pools. Over the years we have continuously looked for new and better materials and manufacturing processes to use in the construction of our pools. In our quest to make the best possible resin pool products, we have concluded that Gas Assist Injection Molding is the process that best matches the application. Gas assist offers:

- Vertical rib structure for maximum vertical load support.
- Horizontal rib structure for twist prevention.
- Tubular gas channels for superior torsion control.

Sharkline

Sharkline is a combination of all of the right materials in all the right places.

Sharkline offers the true round top rail advantage, with arcs, curves, and texture for strength and beauty.

We have been doing this for years and know what material will work best for each application.

- Resin top rails and caps: Softer to the touch, doesn't corrode. True radius.
- Double coated uprights with plastiguard on both sides offer strength where you need it.
- Aluminum bottom system: This is the only part of the pool that touches the ground. It offers you corrosion protection with the strength of a metal alloy.
